Spring and Summer in Coastal Mississippi go beyond seasons; they shape the way we live and play!

From April through September, Coastal Mississippi hits its stride. The weather calls you outside, the music gets louder, the seafood gets fresher, and the sunsets linger a little longer. This year, the celebration is even bigger as we join the nation in commemorating America 250 with special events and experiences across Hancock, Harrison, and Jackson Counties.

This edition of the Play Coastal Mississippi Travel Guide is your invitation to dive in!

Inside, you will find a lineup of festivals, concerts, and community celebrations that define our Coastal culture. You will discover chef-driven restaurants, dockside favorites, boutique hotels with character, and vacation rentals that feel like your own place on the beach. Add in world-class casinos, charter fishing, museums, live entertainment, and family-friendly attractions, and you have more than a getaway. You have options!

Whether you are planning a long weekend, a milestone celebration, a reunion, or a spontaneous road trip, Coastal Mississippi delivers the kind of experiences that turn into stories you tell for years.

America 250 is more than a milestone for our country; here in Coastal Mississippi, it is a celebration of the independent spirit, resilience, and hospitality that have shaped our communities for generations. As we commemorate this historic moment, we also shine a light on what makes this region unforgettable: authentic Coastal towns, bold culinary talent, a rich and layered history, and a calendar packed with reasons to plan your next visit.

Consider this your official invitation to experience Coastal Mississippi at its best! Come for the festivals and America 250 celebrations; stay for the food, the music, and the moments you did not see coming. Tour the museums and historic sites, check into a boutique hotel or beachside rental, reserve the table, book the charter, catch the live show, chase the sunset, then wake up and do it all over again. However you choose to play it, we are ready to welcome you to Coastal Mississippi!

"Martin Miazza Gifts is a Coastal Treasure"

- Southern Living Magazine -

Southern Living said it best when they described Martin Miazza Gifts as a Coastal Treasure.

Martin Miazza opened in 1966 determined to provide our customers with the quality and selection of gifts that could be found nowhere else.

Our very first line was Baccarat crystal. From that beginning we have built one of the finest collections on the Coast. Names like L'Object, Le Jacquard linens, Nambe, Julie Vos and Vietri have been included along the way.

Over 250 patterns of both fine and casual china are on display and we carry the largest selection of Annieglass to be found anywhere.

Annieglass

McCarty Pottery has been an exclusive line since we opened and remains a customer favorite.

All these lines have been enhanced with our own unique and exclusive products.

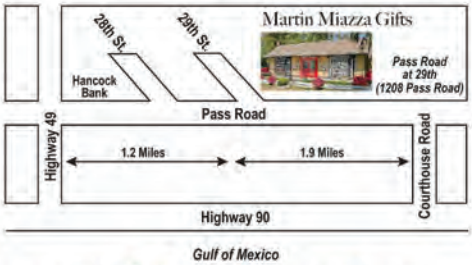

We have produced 35 collectible editions of The original Christmas Ornament ...just one of an array of designs by Martin Miazza, all uniquely distinctive to our Gulf Coast home.

Come on inside! We would love to show you how Martin Miazza Gifts has become your own special "Coastal Treasure."

I DO WITH a view

The Grand Sofia

Story by Cherie Ward

Along Coastal Mississippi's 62 miles of shoreline, wedding dreams come true all year long! Whether you're drawn to barefoot beach ceremonies, elegant ballroom receptions, or charming Coastal settings, the region blends natural beauty with Southern hospitality in a way that feels effortless and unforgettable.

That's where The Grand Sofia shines. This new beachside venue in Biloxi rises to the challenge with a thoughtfully designed, all-inclusive venue that pairs beachfront romance with indoor versatility, elevated amenities, and even fireworks over the Gulf.

For Venue Director Shelby Hansen, adaptability was non-negotiable. From the outset, the goal was to create a space that could respond quickly to changing plans—without ever sacrificing style or scale. The venue offers in-house catering and can host up to 400 guests for a plated, sit-down dinner—dance floor included. Most importantly for couples, ceremonies planned for the beach can move indoors at a moment's notice, ensuring the day stays on track regardless of the weather.

Location further strengthens the venue's appeal. Situated directly along Beach Boulevard, The Grand Sofia occupies a newly renovated, 10,000-square-foot space in the heart of Biloxi's beachfront corridor. Steps from the sand and surrounded by hotels, restaurants, and entertainment, the venue offers unmatched convenience for couples hosting out-of-town guests. Hansen notes that the proximity plays a key role in destination-style weddings, and The Grand Sofia works closely with lodging partners to help couples coordinate accommodations for traveling guests—streamlining one of the most time-consuming aspects of wedding planning.

For fellow Venue Director Sarah Carman, the magic lies in how all of those elements come together. With unobstructed views of the Gulf, ample parking, and a fresh, open layout, the venue strikes a rare balance—grand in scale yet intimate in feel.

"We have all the details people usually have to piece together from one venue or another," Carman said. "But we're also not so big that we lose our personal touch." That sense of balance extends behind the scenes as well. The Grand Sofia ensures both sides of the wedding party have room to relax, gather, and prepare comfortably. Carman points to the venue's thoughtfully designed suites—particularly the Upper Suite created specifically for grooms and groomsmen - as a standout feature. Downstairs, the Grand Suite has a private entrance and exit - allowing brides and their parties to arrive early and get ready without ever crossing through the reception space.

Beyond weddings, Carman and Hansen both see the venue's open floor plan as a natural fit for corporate events, showers, and celebrations of all kinds.

LIVE LIKE a local

Story by Cherie Ward

Just a hop, skip, and a jump off the interstate, you'll find the fascinating towns of Coastal Mississippi. Each of these charming beach cities has scrumptious seafood, culturally rich and diverse art, and outdoor adventures just waiting to be explored and appreciated. Now, you're probably daydreaming of steaming Gulf shrimp platters, freshly shucked oyster trays washed down by the most unique beer you've ever tasted, or shopping in one-of-a-kind boutiques. But where are the best places to make all your Coastal dreams a reality?

Local artist Katie Brace Peterson has a few thoughts on the matter and named the Flying Llama Brewery in Biloxi as her choice to grab a tasty beer. "They have the best beer, and I'm not even a beer drinker. But their Mardi Gras beer is the best beer I've ever had," she said.

Peterson, who is an up-and-coming live wedding painter, spends a lot of time at event venues throughout the Coast. Her favorite upscale party and celebration destination is the crown jewel, Centennial Plaza in Gulfport. "It's such a fun, classy place," she said, adding she and her husband, Drew, live in D'Iberville, but grew up in Ocean Springs.

When they go out for a well-deserved date night, they have quite a few favorite spots. Hatsukoi is their favorite Ocean Springs place for spoon-licking pho while Maison de Lu is their go-to fine-dining experience. For cocktails, nothing beats a Honey Bunny at the Red Apple Lounge, located in Downtown Ocean Springs. This venue was inspired by famed Screenwriter and Director Quentin Tarantino. And if they want a little something Latin-inspired, Empanola in Ocean Springs is a tasty treat!

When lunch and shopping are on the agenda, they spend the day at the Promenade in D'Iberville. "There are just so many great places to go to, and there's always something new to try. It's really hard to pick a favorite," she said.

> Centennial Plaza

> Hatsukoi Restaurant & Sushi Bar

> Fly Llama Brewing

Over in Jackson County, Mandy Dunn of Pascagoula is a frequent visitor to both the famous Bozo's Seafood Market and its adjoining restaurant Bozo's Too on Ingalls Avenue. The Pascagoula native highly recommends trying the crawfish nachos. "We are there just about every weekend when crawfish season begins," she said. "It's definitely a can't-miss place!"

Brady's Steak and Seafood is a great date-night waterfront restaurant that's worth checking out, and The Jury Room is a favorite lounge spot. Dunn and her family stop by the Blind Butcher Shoppe often when its renowned crawfish and sausage King Cake smothered in smoked queso is in season. And Tay's BBQ in Moss Point has the best barbecue sauce and smoked tuna dip on the Coast!

As a realtor at Coldwell Banker Alfonso, Dunn and her coworkers frequent favorite lunch spots like deMaiz Taco Cantina for street corn and nachos and love to shop at the unique boutiques in Downtown Pascagoula, which is a growing shopping haven.

But not all of the locals are Mississippi natives. The Coast is full of transplants like Lee Cyr who lives in Bay St. Louis, but came by way of Dayton, Ohio. He said relocating to Old Town Bay St. Louis was the easiest, best decision he's ever made.

"I tell people from out of town all the time, cruise around Old Town, and you'll stay on the Coast forever," he said. "I made a trip to New Orleans, and we stayed in Bay St. Louis. From the first time I cruised Old Town, I was pretty much hooked and knew I wanted to live here."

When he's not brokering real estate deals at PowerMark Properties, Cyr is performing solo acts at local bars belting out blues songs. And it didn't take him long to learn all the beloved hot spots. "For seaside dining, you just can't beat The Blind Tiger, which sits right next to the beautiful Municipal Harbor,"

> The Blind Tiger | Bay St. Louis

he said. "You can eat and breathe the fresh Coast air and have something different every time you go. And Dat Kitchen Too in Waveland is kind of a squat-and-gobble place. It has great Southern-style cooking that never breaks the bank and without question, Brooklyn Pizzeria (in Gulfport) is the best New York-style pizza you'll ever eat."

The Rusty Pelican is an out-of-the-way, go-to Long Beach spot, and it's hard to beat Shaggy's open-air dining and bar at the Pass Christian Harbor, as well as other locations across the Coast. If you're searching for a sports bar, the Red Zone in Diamondhead has you covered. "And they even have karaoke," he said.

No matter where you dine, shop, visit, or play on the Coast, you'll go home with lots of breathtaking memories, or you just might never leave!

Amtrak™

RIDE the rails!

A NEW ERA FOR COAST TRAVEL

Story by Lynn Lofton

A warm "All aboard!" is once again echoing along the Mississippi Gulf Coast, signaling the return of a long-awaited travel experience.

After a 20-year hiatus, the Amtrak™ Mardi Gras ServiceSM made its inaugural run on August 18, offering twice-daily, round-trip passenger rail service between Mobile, AL and New Orleans, LA with convenient stops in Bay St. Louis, Gulfport, Biloxi, and Pascagoula.

"This isn't just a transportation milestone; it's a transformative opportunity to drive tourism growth across our entire region," said Judy Young, CEO of Coastal Mississippi Tourism. "We're deeply grateful to Amtrak and our state, local, and federal partners for working together to turn this long-awaited vision into reality."

Already known for its welcoming hospitality, sugar-white beaches, world-class gaming, rich cultural heritage, and robust culinary scene, Coastal Mississippi is now even more accessible to visitors from near and far.

"This is another wonderful amenity for Coast lodgings as well as many throughout the state," said Linda G. Hornsby, Executive Director of the Mississippi Hotel & Lodging Association. "It's a great opportunity for properties to enhance their guest offerings and create packages that include tickets aboard the Mardi Gras ServiceSM."

Affordable fares make the journey even more appealing! Adult coach tickets for the full route start at just $15 each way, with even lower prices for your Coastal stops. Discounts are available for children (ages 2–12), students, seniors, veterans, military personnel, and groups of all sizes.

These trains will offer coach and business class in addition to cafe service with a menu featuring locally sourced items. Guests will enjoy wide reclining seats with ample legroom, no middle seats, free Wi-Fi and generous carry-on luggage allowances. Space can be reserved for golf bags and pets in carriers within appropriate weights.

Coast Transit Authority (CTA)

And the journey doesn't end at the station. Coast Transit Authority (CTA) encourages passengers to "keep their journey rolling!" From the Biloxi Transit Center, travelers can hop on trolley and bus services heading west to Gulfport or east to Ocean Springs, making it easy to explore the entire region. No car required!

So, whether you're chasing Coastal breezes, uncovering charming towns, or simply seeking a new adventure, the Amtrak™ MardiGras ServiceSM is your ticket to experience the spirit and excitement of Coastal Mississippi.

> Ground Trade Training | Keesler Air Force Base

A SALUTE TO Coastal heroes

COASTAL MISSISSIPPI'S PROUD MILITARY HERITAGE

Coastal Mississippi is the proud home of several military institutions providing defense, training, security, community service, and local employment.

The largest facility is Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi. The base is named in honor of aviator 2d Lt. Samuel Reeves Keesler, Jr., a Mississippi native killed in France during the First World War. The base is home of Headquarters of the Second Air Force and the 81st Training Wing of the Air Education and Training Command. It is also the command post of the famous Hurricane Hunters whose missions are flown from Keesler.

The base has specialized in ground trade training since its opening in 1941 during World War II. It has had high-quality technical schools and absorbed units moved from other bases under the Base Realignment and Closure Act. Congress initially appropriated $6 million for construction at Biloxi and an additional $2 million for equipment. By the time funds were allocated in April 1941, the projected cost had risen to $9.6 million. On June 14, 1941, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers awarded contracts totaling $10 million to build Biloxi's technical training school. At the time, it was the most expensive government project to have been undertaken in Mississippi.

The Tuskegee Airmen were trained at Keesler. More than 7,000 African American soldiers were stationed at Keesler Field by the autumn of 1943. These soldiers included pre-aviation cadets, radio operators, aviation technicians, bombardiers, and aviation mechanics.

> Equipment Inspection Layout | Naval Construction Battalion Center (SeaBees)

| Naval Construction Battalion Center (SeaBees)

Gulfport is home of the Armed Forces Retirement Home, Coast Guard Station, Naval Construction Battalion Center and Air National Guard Combat Readiness Training Center.

The Naval Construction Battalion Center (SeaBees) was established in 1942 primarily for training and logistical support for Seabees in World War II. Now the primary mission is to support the Naval Construction Forces as well as Naval Forces located at NASA's Stennis Space Center and aboard naval vessels at Huntington Ingalls, Pascagoula.

The Gulfport Coast Guard Station averages 100 search-and-rescue cases annually. These cases range from minor disabled vessels to medical emergencies and vessels sinking. Law Enforcement missions include a wide variety from narcotics interdiction, fishery enforcement, to inspecting safety gear on board recreational and commercial vessels.

The Air National Guard Combat Readiness Training Center hosts regular deployments of Air National Guard units, and offers convenient offshore airspace that is fully instrumented for recording air-to-air engagements. All Airspace and ranges/drop zones are instrumented on the $26 million Air Combat Training System.

The Armed Forces Retirement Home (AFRH) is a residential facility for retired and former members of the U.S. Armed Forces. It is one of two AFRH campuses; the other being in Washington, D.C. The AFRH provides a community for enlisted veterans to live and receive care, with a focus on an activity-filled lifestyle in a beautiful setting. The current AFRH-G is a modern, multi-tower complex built to withstand hurricane-force winds.

Pascagoula is a major hub for U.S. naval shipbuilding and maritime security, anchored by Ingalls Shipbuilding and the U.S. Coast Guard. In 2026, the Coast Guard is restoring Station Pascagoula to full, 24/7 operations, focusing on maritime border security, while Ingalls Shipbuilding continues constructing Navy destroyers, amphibious ships, and frigates.

Supervisor of Shipbuilding (SUPSHIP) Gulf Coast is the United States Navy's echelon III field activity that administers and manages shipbuilding contracts with privately-owned shipyards located along the Gulf Coast with detachments in Louisiana and Alabama, as well as post-delivery contracts with contractors in homeports around the country. This organization of approximately 600 military and civilian personnel, an activity of the Naval Sea Systems Command, provides engineering, quality assurance, contract management, and financial services required to streamline how shipbuilding contractors provide ships and crafts to the Navy.

Also in Pascagoula, the city was designated by the National Park Service as a World War II Heritage City, which recognizes the one city or region in each state that made the greatest contribution to the war effort. This designation involved an extensive application process. Local leaders and the Historic Preservation Commission conducted strategic research needed to formulate the application. The Mississippi Heritage Trust awarded Pascagoula a Historic Preservation Award for this national honor.

THEN & now

HONORING FREEDOM, UNITY & THE AMERICAN + COASTAL SPIRIT

As America approaches its 250th anniversary, Coastal Mississippi stands as a living timeline of our nation's story. Long before the United States declared independence in 1776, explorers, settlers, freedom seekers, entrepreneurs and artists were shaping life along these shores. From colonial forts to cultural landmarks, each site tells a chapter of resilience, community, and evolution.

With historic photos from "then" and vibrant images of "now," we're reflecting on six iconic locations and showing how history continues to live, breathe, and inspire today.

1. 100 MEN HALL

Built in 1922 by the One Hundred Members' Debating Benevolent Association, 100 Men Hall in Bay St. Louis became a cornerstone of community life during segregation and later gained recognition as a stop on the historic "Chitlin' Circuit." Today, 100 Men Hall operates as a cultural arts center and performance venue, preserving African American heritage on the Coast.

2. FORT MAUREPAS PARK

In 1699, French explorers Pierre Le Moyne D'Iberville and Jean-Baptiste Le Moyne de Bienville established Fort Maurepas near present-day Ocean Springs, marking the first French settlement in what would become Mississippi. Although the original fort no longer stands today, Fort Maurepas Park honors that legacy.

3. LAPOINTE-KREBS HOUSE

With construction starting in 1757, the LaPointe-Krebs House is the oldest surviving structure in Mississippi. Originally constructed during the French colonial period and later occupied under British and Spanish rule, the preserved home reflects the European influences that shaped the Mississippi Gulf Coast and today serves as a museum and educational site in Pascagoula.

> Historic Logtown | Wildlife Mississippi

4. HISTORIC LOGTOWN

Once one of the largest towns in Hancock County, Historic Logtown thrived in the 19th century as a lumber and trade center along the Pearl River. Its proximity to the water made it a hub of commerce during Mississippi's early statehood years. Today, Logtown exists as an archaeological site and historic district, where markers and preserved spaces tell the story of a once-bustling community.

> Fort Massachusetts | Coastal Mississippi & RPF Media

5. FORT MASSACHUSETTS

Construction of Fort Massachusetts began in the 1850s on Ship Island, but its strategic importance became clear during the Civil War. On July 9, 1861, the Union Navy's USS Massachusetts exchanged fire with Confederate forces in a 20-minute battle that marked a significant early conflict in the state. Today, the fort is accessible by the Ship Island ferry as part of Gulf Islands National Seashore.

A COAST 250 YEARS IN THE MAKING

From colonial forts to cultural halls, from lighthouses to lost towns, Coastal Mississippi reflects the many layers of America's journey. These places existed before the United States was formed, witnessed its defining conflicts and continue to shape its future.

As we look toward America 250, Coastal Mississippi invites visitors to explore history not as something confined to textbooks, but as something tangible—a place you can walk through, stand beside and experience firsthand.

6. BILOXI LIGHTHOUSE

Completed in 1848, the Biloxi Lighthouse has stood watch over the Mississippi Sound for more than 175 years. It guided ships through bustling Gulf waters, survived the Civil War and endured some of the most powerful hurricanes in American history. Today, the lighthouse remains one of the most photographed landmarks in the state.

A JOURNEY through Coastal Mississippi

From pristine beaches to groundbreaking festivals, Coastal Mississippi offers picture-perfect getaways for nature lovers, outdoor enthusiasts, art aficionados, and history buffs. Visitors and newcomers alike can take a leisurely drive down the scenic Beach Boulevard Byway to experience the charming seaside towns dotting the shoreline. Stops will include unforgettable old-world Southern charm, the freshest Gulf seafood, and stunning views of the Mississippi Sound. Let us help you envision the majestic journey of traveling along the Coast!

HANCOCK COUNTY

Serving as the front door to the Coast, we begin our expedition from the West by entering Hancock County. Our first stop is the city of Waveland, a perfectly quaint beach town of pride and traditions. Known as "The Hospitality City," it's the only community on the Coast that prohibits commercial buildings on its beachfront. Instead, you'll find various points of interest, such as the Veteran's Memorial Monument and the adjacent Garfield Pier, frequented by residents and visitors alike for fishing, walking, and enjoying a picnic.

One of the many jewels in Waveland is Buccaneer State Park, a sprawling 343-acre beachfront property. This park is a paradise for outdoor enthusiasts, offering a 4.5-acre water park, over 300 campsites for RVs and tents, an 18-hole disc golf course, and a 1.8-mile nature trail. It's the perfect setting for nature-based activities such as birding, crabbing, and kayaking, making it a must-visit for those who love to explore the great outdoors.

Moving along, we continue our drive East towards the city of Diamondhead. Named after a volcanic tuff cone on the Hawaiian island of Oahu, the name was selected in hopes that it would attract quick-witted Coastal residents or clever travelers seeking a change of scenery. It seemed to work, as Diamondhead was deemed the smartest city in the state. Due to its countless amenities, the city is also a top choice for snowbirds looking to relocate.

Now that we've worked up an appetite, we make our way into the Coastal city of Bay St. Louis. As we continue down Beach Boulevard, we can't help but let our windows down and enjoy the sights, sounds, and smells that call our senses. This relaxed, artsy city exudes small-town charm while offering a beach lover's paradise and lots of historic sights. It's famous for its trendy Old Bay Town area that offers shopping, dining, and more. Learn about this walkable beach town while making stops at historical spots such as the Alice Moseley Folk Art Museum. Also located in the heart of Old Town, 200 North Beach Restaurant & Bar, The Blind Tiger, and Trapani's Eatery all serve authentic Coastal cuisine just steps away from the Bay St. Louis Municipal Harbor. Just one visit to Bay St. Louis, and you'll quickly see why it was named "One of the Coolest Small Towns in America."

At this point on our drive down Beach Boulevard, we have two more counties to go and nine cities to explore! So, why don't you enjoy your night and unwind for the day ahead?

> Pass Christian Harbor

HARRISON COUNTY

Waking up is hard when you're so relaxed; however, the anticipation of a new day and new adventures calls to us. As we start our morning drive into Harrison County, we come upon the city of Pass Christian. It's a tiny beach town rooted sternly in yacht sailing history. It's affectionately called "The Pass" by waterfront locals, but it's also widely known as "The Birthplace of Yachting in the South." The richly nautical historic town is a prevalent sailing destination and was even a favorite yachting spot of President Theodore Roosevelt! And it should come as no surprise that the town has one of the most stunning harbors on the Coast, only to be highlighted by quirky, island-style eateries, beautiful beaches, elite charter fishing, and a carefree, friendly local vibe.

If The Pass was not "yar" enough for you sailors, perhaps we can entice you with the picturesque Coastal perch that is Long Beach. This city has quickly become an ideal spot for a serene getaway with bicycle-friendly streets, an array of seaside eateries, and one of Mississippi's most famous historical landmarks – the Friendship Oak. Considered the oldest tree in the Magnolia State, legend has it that those who seek shade under the branches of the 500+-year-old tree will remain friends their entire lives.

The beautiful, peaceful scenic route we've experienced so far can only prepare us for more excitement ahead! Our drive brings us further toward the central region of Coastal Mississippi, where we enter the city limits of Gulfport. As the second-largest city in Mississippi and the headquarters of Cruisin' the Coast, Gulfport has much to offer visitors and locals alike, including swimming with dolphins and sea turtles, ferry-piloted tropical island escapes, lounging on endless miles of sugary sandy shorelines, or diving into a myriad of water parks. The city also offers some of the most unique sites, such as Fishbone Alley. Named one of the "Most Unusual and Enjoyable" streets in America, the pedestrian-only alley is filled with eateries, bars, and artwork by local artists. Other avoid-the-heat stops include the Mississippi Coast Model Railroad Museum's: TrainTastic™, Mississippi Aquarium, and Lynn Meadows Discovery Center. With all these attractions, we hope you can't wait to see more!

> Friendship Oak | Coastal Mississippi

> TrainTastic™ | Coastal Mississippi & RPF Media

Having experienced an action-packed day so far, we cannot rule out a shopping excursion in D'Iberville. As the retail shopping capital of the Coast, travelers can mosey through the countless stores of The Promenade or indulge in local cuisine packed with seafood. And if the kids are hoping for a break from a shopping trip, you can catch a movie or have a bowling night with the family, as there's a little something for everyone.

As we wrap up our last leg of today's journey and the county, we take on the city of Biloxi. One of the state's oldest cities, the town offers a perfect mix of history and popular culture while retaining a beachy vibe with the historic Biloxi Lighthouse. As a famous summer tourist destination, the seaside town features miles of beaches, most of the Coast's casinos, countless museums, and award-winning eclectic restaurants and bistros. It's also home to several notable historic sites, including Beauvoir, which is the former home of Jefferson Davis.

COMMUNITIES

JACKSON COUNTY

A brand-new day equals brand-new fun! A great start to any day is a home-cooked meal, but since we are away from home, might we suggest a scrumptious brunch at The Lady May in Downtown Ocean Springs? They can serve up some meals to make your grandma jealous!

As another designated "One of the Coolest Small Towns in America," there's a lot to love about Ocean Springs. At its heart is the renowned Walter Anderson Museum of Art, where you can immerse yourself in the vibrant world of Walter Inglis Anderson—his bold, colorful depictions of Gulf Coast wildlife, landscapes, and people are truly captivating. And the artistic perks don't end there; the canopied Downtown is bursting with funky boutiques, quaint shops, and top-notch award-winning eateries. At more than 300 years old, the town is loaded with history and teeming with charm, making it easy to see why it's known as the "City of Discovery."

Now that our bellies and minds are full let's take a walk on the wild side! With plenty of outdoor activities in the "River City," Moss Point is a mecca for nature enthusiasts. One destination that should not be missed when visiting Moss Point is the Grand Bay National Estuarine Research Reserve. Situated on 18,000 acres, the reserve is home to pine savannas, salt marshes, salt pannes, bays, bayous, and terrestrial habitats. As you explore the rest of the city that's rich in heritage, you'll discover the spirit of Moss Point in every street, storefront, and smiling face.

But wait! Nature still beckons the explorer in us all as we venture into the city of Gautier. When you want to get in touch with forested woodlands and wildflowers, "Nature's Playground" is the perfect destination. Shepard State Park might be one of the Coast's lesser-known parks, but it's got a lot to offer, including the Mississippi Coastal Birding Trail. But if nature is not your favorite thing, Gautier now offers The Sound, a world-class amphitheater that attracts music lovers and national touring acts.

As we come to the end of our Beach Boulevard voyage, we would be remiss not to enjoy the extraordinary hidden seaside gem that is the city of Pascagoula. Notably making headlines, the city is known as the spot where the Pascagoula River sings, where aliens once made landfall in the '70s and where Mr. Margaritaville himself, Jimmy Buffett, first strummed a guitar. But the city serves its visitors with so much more! The "Flagship City" has endless parks and campsites, locally owned eateries with secret generational recipes, and countless perfect waterway spots to watch the waves roll in from the Gulf.

We have made it through Coastal Mississippi, having experienced the sights along the Beach Boulevard Byway. Care to take a turnabout and explore further? We certainly recommend it! If we divert our travel beyond the Beach Boulevard Byway to explore the depths of each town, there is always more to discover within our twelve cities and additional Coastal communities. What wonders you may find and vibrant Coastal characters you will meet!

You can expect a great warm welcome when you come to the Coast. Southern hospitality isn't just a nicety but a way of life. We say y'all, a contractual slang for "you all," and we mean it. You have vacation days to enjoy, and we have the means to fill them with excitement and discovery. We invite y'all to join the expedition along our Coastal shores. So, join us and stay awhile. And go have some fun, for fun's sake!

WALTER ANDERSON reimagined

STUDENT ART SHOW

Story and photos by Kelsey Sunderman-Foster

The Walter Anderson Museum of Art (WAMA) turned the Ocean Springs Community Center into a burst of youthful imagination during its Winter Student Art Show, held this past December. From kindergartners to high school seniors, students across the Coast were invited to dive into the theme "Walter Anderson Reimagined." Their mission? To take a beloved Walter Anderson piece and reinvent it through their own creative lens—whether that meant bold new colors, playful twists on familiar motifs, or completely unexpected interpretations. No medium was off-limits, and each student could submit up to two works, resulting in a vibrant, eclectic showcase that felt both deeply personal and wonderfully communal.

The Museum will hold its next student art show in May with the theme "Paradise Found," wherein students are encouraged to explore their own personal sacred places, such as that of Horn Island for Walter Anderson.

Here are a few standout pieces from "Walter Anderson Reimagined" that caught our eye and captured the adventurous spirit of the exhibition!

CALLING ALL FOODIES

Coastal Mississippi dining is truly a pleasure and a long-standing tradition, as the area is known for its extensive array of cuisine. We take pride in the quality and variety we serve to please all palates. Come hungry! We promise you'll leave full and filled with memories of an outstanding culinary experience.

Fresh Gulf seafood is a mainstay of this region as the area's rich culinary history is a gumbo of cultures. Parts of the Coast were settled by the French more than 300 years ago! Their cuisine, along with Native Americans and eventually Spanish explorers, melded together over time. As people from Italy, Ireland, the Balkans, Vietnam, Central and South America, and other places came to these shores, their food became part of the delicious mix that is now Coastal cuisine.

With the endless variety of dishes, there is a diversity of ambiance and pricing. From white tablecloth restaurants to beachside, wear-your-flip-flop kind of hangouts, the dining atmosphere stays true to the warmth of Southern hospitality.

SAVORING Coastal Mississippi

Coastal Mississippi serves up a robust culinary scene that bursts with new energy each season, weaving together the freshness of locally sourced ingredients with the warmth of Southern hospitality. From bustling farmers markets to farm fresh and Gulf-to-table restaurants, the region's dedication to showcasing its rich heritage through food is palpable at every turn.

EXPLORING COAST FARMERS MARKETS

Local farmers markets serve as more than just places to shop – They're vibrant hubs of community connection and culinary exploration. As you navigate through stands brimming with fresh produce, artisanal goods, and unique offerings, a sense of excitement envelops you. These markets embody the essence of the Coast, offering a window into the seasonal ingredients that grace restaurant menus across the area.

With farmers markets spread across our three Coastal counties, you'll discover an enticing array of ingredients that paints a vivid picture of what awaits on many restaurant menus throughout your stay. Whether you're seeking the perfect ingredients for a farm-to-table feast or simply craving the taste of a warm and juicy freshly picked tomato, Coastal Mississippi's markets invite you to savor the flavors of the season and revel in the spirit of community.

JOURNEY INTO THE HEART: FARM-TO-TABLE

Nestled in the heart of Biloxi, the James Beard-nominated White Pillars stands as a beacon of culinary excellence, inviting patrons to indulge in an unforgettable dining experience radiating a sense of Coastal elegance and charm. Here, the dedication to showcasing locally sourced ingredients is evident in every dish, with each meticulously crafted to reflect the bounty of the Coast.

Meanwhile, in the charming town of Ocean Springs, James Beard-nominated Vestige celebrates local ingredients in inventive and unexpected ways, captivating diners with its blend of elegance and intimacy.

In Long Beach, Radish offers a culinary experience as vibrant and fresh as the Gulf breeze. With its focus on locally sourced ingredients and inventive cuisine, Radish delights diners with its eclectic menu and laid-back ambiance.

SOURCING LOCAL: A COMMITMENT TO QUALITY

In quaint Bay St. Louis, Thorny Oyster stands out for its dedication to sustainability and seasonality. Owner and Executive Chef Jeff Hansell's passion for locally sourced ingredients shines through in every bite, forging a genuine connection to the water, the land, and the communities of Coastal Mississippi.

For Chef Jeff Hansell, sourcing local ingredients isn't just a trend – it's a way of life! "The farmers' and fishermen's products speak for themselves," he explains. "Every ingredient has a different quality checklist we look at." From visiting farms and fisheries to personally selecting the freshest ingredients, Hansell ensures that Thorny Oyster's dishes are a true reflection of the Coast's culinary bounty. Thorny Oyster creatively incorporates seasonal ingredients into its menu, offering diners a taste of the region's rich flavors with every bite.

SAVORING THE ESSENCE OF THE COAST

Here on the Coast, we're blessed to be home to numerous restaurants and chefs who understand the significance of incorporating local, seasonal, and sustainable ingredients into their culinary creations. So come, savor the essence of Coastal Mississippi, and embark on a culinary adventure that's sure to delight your senses and nourish your soul!

BY THE FIG & the olive

Story and photos by Anne Pitre

Tucked into a tranquil complex devoted to health and wellness, By the Fig & the Olive feels less like a restaurant and more like an experience designed to restore you from the inside out. Surrounded by a yoga studio, counseling center, zen garden, and the adjacent Common Grounds coffee shop, the space radiates calm before you've even taken a seat.

Inside, the atmosphere is serene and grounding. Natural textures—upcycled woods, glass, earthenware, and soft fiber napkins—connect diners to the Earth. Even the seating invites mindfulness, with both traditional tables and a raised platform for comfortable floor seating. Every detail feels intentional, echoing the restaurant's holistic philosophy.

Chef Fariha Bhatty, who hails from Pakistan, has assembled a diverse team of chefs from around the world, each contributing their own culinary perspective. The result is a menu that's truly global and a fusion of cultures. When Chef Fariha joined me for my meal, she guided me through an exploration of flavors that was as enlightening as it was delicious.

The Mezze Platter is the best introduction to the restaurant's global spirit, featuring house-brined olives, dolmas, and four signature dips: hummus, baba ganouj, muhammara, and labneh. The hummus was smooth and lemony, the baba ganouj silky and smoky from roasted eggplant, and the muhammara—a roasted red pepper dip topped with walnuts—bright and tangy with a hint of heat. The labneh added a milky, savory contrast. The dolmas, stuffed with herbed rice and served cold alongside a dill-forward yogurt sauce called cacik.

> Chicken Shawarma

> Mezze Platter

For our main dishes, the chicken shawarma was tender, aromatic, and layered with spice, served alongside saffron rice and crisp vegetables for contrast. The lamb chops were equally memorable—rich, generously seasoned, and perfectly marbled, with just enough fat left on the bone to create that indulgent, melt-in-your-mouth flavor.

Between courses, I sampled a new creation: pumpkin hummus topped with roasted pumpkin seeds, smoky harissa, and fresh cilantro. The pumpkin added an earthy sweetness that played beautifully against the tangy hummus—a true autumn twist on a classic.

Dessert brought pure joy. The baklava, warm and buttery, shimmered with honey, and pistachios, delicately adorned with rose petals. The kulfi, a dense, South Asian ice cream infused with rose and pistachio, was paired with a rose preserve so floral and honeyed it tasted like summer captured in syrup.

Next door, Chef Fariha's daughter Alize and son-in-law Matt carry the same intentional spirit into Common Grounds Coffee. Matt, an Australian, insisted I try their Flat White—a coffeehouse staple down under. Creamy, velvety, and coffee-forward, it was the perfect companion to their almond shortbread and haldi doodh cookies, the latter spiced like a golden milk latte baked into a cookie.

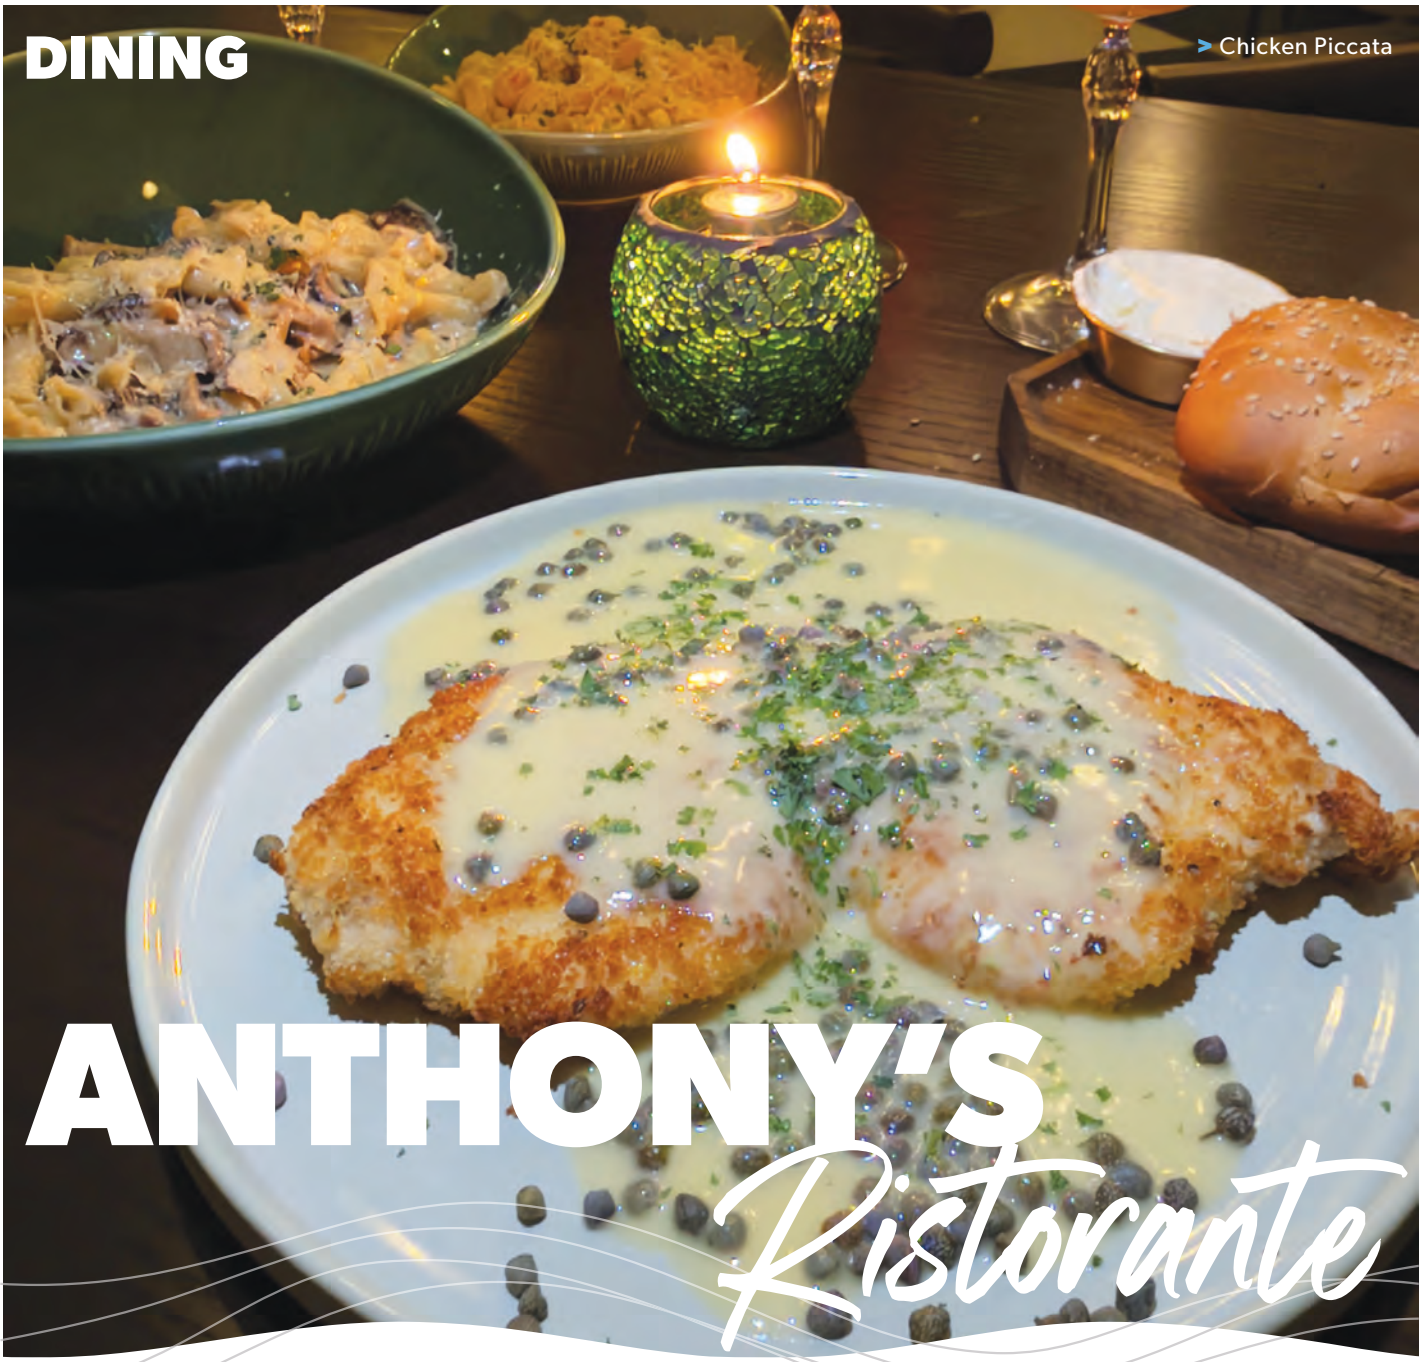

At By the Fig & the Olive, everything—from the ingredients to the ambiance—is rooted in Ayurvedic principles of balance and wellbeing. It's food that nourishes not only your body but your spirit. And in a world that moves too fast, this little sanctuary in Ocean Springs invites you to slow down, savor, and reconnect.

ANTHONY'S Ristorante

Story and photos by Anne Pitre

In the heart of Old Town Bay St. Louis, Anthony's Ristorante is redefining Italian fine dining on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Owned by Chef Joseph Trapani and his mother, Jolynne Trapani, this restaurant is more than a new culinary venture—it's the continuation of the Trapani family's legacy of culinary excellence.

From the moment you walk through the doors, you feel the elegance. A stately bar glows with candlelight, framed by a grand piano, candelabras, and plush seating. Beyond it lies a spacious dining room crowned with crystal chandeliers, while the upstairs balcony evokes the romance of the Coast. It's a space that feels both refined and welcoming—just like the Trapanis themselves.

Joseph has a heart as big as his heritage, and has built a menu that beautifully balances old-world Italian tradition with modern sophistication. Every recipe, every garnish, feels personal—developed in love and served with pride.

At the bar, mixologist Jacob crafts cocktails that are as inventive as they are elegant. The Paper Plane is a beautiful bourbon cocktail, bright and citrus-forward, with notes of grapefruit. The Caprese Martini is a rare savory delight—olive-oil-washed Beefeater Gin and clarified tomato juice. It is garnished with a caprese skewer with mozzarella pearls, and a cherry tomato wrapped in a basil leaf. The combination is delicate, briny and herbaceous. The Bella is a showstopper. She is a symphony of Empress Indigo Gin, floral flavors and red berries topped with a La Marca float, a silky foam, and an edible flower.

Our dinner began with house-made semolina and sesame bread, braided and beautiful—crusty on the outside, soft and pillowy within—served with garlic butter and olive oil that could warm even the chilliest night. The meatballs, rich and firm, arrive nestled in a robust marinara and topped with ricotta and mozzarella, alongside seared focaccia kissed by high-quality olive oil.

Fresh pasta is made daily, each shape chosen with intention. The Mushroom Campanelli pairs two varieties—shiitake and oyster mushrooms—for a dish that's earthy, silky, and satisfying. I had never heard of Campanelli pasta before. It is such a beautiful shape – it resembles a calla lily. The pasta's shape holds the light cream sauce perfectly. The mushrooms were perfectly sauteed—juicy and bursting with umami and earthy flavor.

The Chicken Piccata at Anthony's is a triumph—tender, pan-seared perfection topped with a lemon-butter-caper sauce that's smooth, creamy and balanced. We ordered a pasta side, which is normally pappardelle. However, the night we went, we were introduced to a second new-to-us pasta: radiator. It's shaped like an antique radiator—hence the name. The deep ridges and ruffled shape are perfect for catching sauce. It tasted as if it was tossed in butter, white wine, chili flakes, and Parmesan.

For dessert, we indulged in a Pistachio Cheesecake that's light, airy, aromatic and surprisingly refreshing. The nutty sweetness of pistachio shines through, complemented by a silken pistachio mousse that adds a hint of vanilla and cream.

Service at Anthony's is as impeccable as the menu. On my recent visit, Tyler was our server—professional, personable, and warm—and a server from our previous visit even came by to say hello. That sense of connection is rare in today's restaurant scene.

Anthony's Ristorante isn't just a restaurant—it's a continuation of a family story that's shaped Coastal Mississippi's dining scene for decades. It's elegant without pretension, heartfelt without fuss, and filled with the kind of flavor only love can create.

COASTAL MISSISSIPPI HAS IT ALL

When it comes to attractions and activities, Coastal Mississippi is a destination for all seasons and ages, with events such as Cruisin' the Coast, PCA Finals Rodeo, Mardi Gras, Mississippi Gulf Coast Billfish Classic, and Christmas on the Water. Throughout the year, there are activities for those who want to be active as well as those looking for more leisurely pursuits. Come see us any time of the year and find plenty to do!

Being Coastal gives us many options, including our white sandy beaches and their rentals, deep sea fishing, Ship Island Excursions, the Biloxi Shrimping Trip, and cruises on two beautiful Biloxi Schooners.

There are eco tours, river and marsh tours, marinas, and water parks providing other types of water activities. Learning is fun at interactive places such as INFINITY Science Center, GCRL Marine Education Center, and the Lynn Meadows Discovery Center—Mississippi's first children's museum!

Art and culture also abound through galleries and museums, including the Walter Anderson Museum of Art, the Ohr-O'Keefe Museum of Art, and the Coastal Mississippi Mardi Gras Museum. Soak up some history with the Biloxi Tour Train, Beauvoir, the Maritime & Seafood Industry Museum, Waveland's Ground Zero Hurricane Museum, and the West End Hose Company Museum.

There's more fun around every corner. Enjoy exploring the many attractions along the Coast!

A CELEBRATION of seafood

FROM SPRING CRAWFISH BOILS TO LATE-SUMMER SHRIMP FEASTS

Seafood season doesn't arrive quietly in Coastal Mississippi—it announces itself with the sound of music drifting over the water, the smell of spice in the air, and long tables filled with friends, family, and strangers who won't be strangers for long. From the first day of spring until the last day of summer, the Coast celebrates its connection to the Gulf not just with what's served, but with how it's shared—out loud, outdoors, and together.

April signals the official kickoff, and it does so with flavor and volume. The Crawfish Music Festival, held April 17-19, is a springtime staple that blends spicy boiled crawfish with live music and festival energy. Hosted at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center in Biloxi, the long-running event draws crowds ready to shake off winter and lean into the season ahead. Crawfish piles up fast, bands keep the mood lively, and the Coast settles comfortably back into festival mode.

By May, oysters take center stage with the Gulf Coast Oyster Cook-Off & Festival, typically held in late spring in Biloxi. This popular event brings together local chefs, shuckers, and seafood fans eager to sample the Coast's favorite bivalve in every form imaginable—from raw oysters on the half shell to charbroiled and creatively topped favorites. The atmosphere is relaxed and social, with live music, Coastal breezes, and plenty of reasons to linger long after the last oyster is shucked.

> The Blessing of the Fleet | Coastal Mississippi & RPF Media

> Crawfish Music Festival | Coastal Mississippi & RPF Media

As summer deepens, July delivers some of the Coast's most cherished traditions. Over the Fourth of July weekend, Bay St. Louis hosts the Our Lady of the Gulf Crab Festival, a multi-day celebration filled with crab feasts, live music, arts and crafts vendors, and family-friendly fun. It's a true community event—equal parts seafood festival and hometown reunion—where cracked shells and laughter are equally abundant.

Early July also brings the Blessing of the Fleet & Shrimp Festival in Biloxi, a time-honored maritime tradition dating back nearly a century. Decorated shrimp boats gather on the water to receive a blessing for a safe and successful season, followed by onshore festivities that include fresh shrimp, music, and a deep sense of gratitude for the people who work the Gulf. It's one of the most meaningful celebrations of the summer, blending faith, heritage, and food in a way only the Coast can.

As summer winds down, September delivers a fitting finale with the Biloxi Seafood Festival, traditionally held in mid-September. Set against the backdrop of the Biloxi Town Green, the festival showcases Gulf seafood in all its forms, with local vendors, live music, arts and crafts, and a laid-back neighborhood feel. It's a celebration that feels both festive and familiar—an end-of-season gathering that reminds everyone why seafood culture here runs so deep.

What ties these festivals together isn't just what's on the plate. It's the pride, the history, and the connection to the water that define life on the Coast. Each event honors generations of shrimpers, fishermen, cooks, and families who've built a culture around the Gulf's bounty.

From the first crawfish boil of spring to the last shrimp basket of summer, seafood season on the Coast is more than a series of events—it's a rhythm. One that invites you to come as you are, bring a hearty appetite, and plan to stay awhile.

A CENTURY on the Sound

Story by Cherie Ward

THE LEGACY OF SHIP ISLAND EXCURSIONS

Long before he ever held a captain's license, before he ever stood at the helm, Louis Skrmetta was a boy leaning against a ferry rail, salt air in his face, watching his father and grandfather work. The Gulf rolled beneath him, Ship Island rose in the distance, and somewhere between the dock and the horizon, a quiet certainty took hold: this would be his life. Now, decades later, Skrmetta is not only living that promise—he's planning the 100th anniversary of the very journey his grandfather, "Captain Pete," first set in motion.

Ship Island Excursions began as a family-anchored seasonal business in 1926, but for Skrmetta, the story doesn't start with a date. It begins with memories of mornings spent riding along beside his father, station wagon packed for the docks, and long days on the water that felt less like work and more like belonging. He grew up swimming off the ferry dock, fishing along the island's edge, exploring Fort Massachusetts, and learning the rhythms of the Mississippi Sound long before he understood the weight of what his family had built. "I couldn't ask for a better life as a kid," Skrmetta said. "I was raised on the water."

> Ship Island Excursions | Coastal Mississippi & RPF Media

> Captain Pete and his four sons on the Pan American Clipper | Ship Island Excursions

> Fort Massachusetts | Coastal Mississippi & RPF Media

He earned his captain's license at just 18 and has spent the last 50 years guiding boats across the same stretch of water he once watched with wide-eyed wonder. Now nearing 70, Skrmetta carries the dual titles of CEO and Chief Senior Captain—roles that reflect both responsibility and reverence for a legacy passed down through generations.

ROOTED IN FAMILY

That legacy has never been carried by one person alone. For decades, Ship Island Excursions has been a family operation in the truest sense. Brothers worked their way up from deckhands. Cousins filled seasonal roles. Aunts ran snack bars, enforced rules, and handled whatever trouble wandered ashore. During the summer months, when school let out, family members showed up—because that's how the business survived.

Seasonal operations are never easy, and the Skrmettas have weathered more than their share of storms. Hurricanes, oil spills, and shutdowns have forced the company to rebuild more than once. Having a ready-made workforce rooted in family made all the difference. "When you're seasonal, you have to adapt," Skrmetta said. "And family helped us do that."

Over the years, he has also witnessed profound changes in the environment surrounding Ship Island. Fishing that was once abundant grew harder. Shrimp boats that once dotted the Sound became fewer. Storms reshaped the islands themselves. When Hurricane Camille split Ship Island in two, it marked a turning point—one eventually followed by restoration efforts that rejoined the land years later. And the Skmetta family has helped rebuild Fort Massachusetts more than once.

Today, Ship Island remains one of the last undeveloped Barrier Islands in the northern Gulf, protected as part of the Gulf Islands National Seashore. The experience of going there has become part of its magic. Dolphins often escort the boats. The water turns clearer as the mainland fades. Visitors step onto the dock and see fish swimming below their feet—a small reminder of how different the island still is, even though it's only an hour ride away.

For many, the trip is an affordable escape, an alternative to crowded beaches farther east. For Skrmetta, it is something deeper. It is stewardship. It is memory. It is watching generations of families make the jaunt to explore the island.

As Ship Island Excursions enters its 100th year, the celebration is just beginning. The 2026 season launched on March 14, with plans underway to mark the May 26 anniversary in ways that honor a century on the water—details that will unfold on social media in the months ahead. For now, the heart of the story remains the same—another boat easing away from the dock, cruising across the Sound. And somewhere along the rail, a child may be watching, arms folded, imagining what comes next as the tide keeps moving. And for the family that built this journey, it will always feel like coming home.

UPPING the ante

A GUIDE TO GAMING ON THE COAST!

Story by Lori Beth Susman

When visiting Coastal Mississippi, let the good times roll, spin, and deal. There are twelve casinos along the Mississippi Gulf Coast offering the best in gaming, sports betting, delectable dining, top entertainment, and upscale amenities.

When it comes to gaming, there is no shortage of fun. Slot floors feature all the popular machines, including Quick Hit, Lightning Link, and Buffalo. Play a few pennies at a time, or visit the high-limit room for some high-roller excitement. Slide up to one of the tables and play blackjack, roulette, or craps. Non-stop action is the name of the game here! There's even live-action and video poker for poker fans to enjoy.

Pro tip: Be sure to visit the casino's Loyalty Club and sign up for a Players Club card. Use this card when playing in the casino and watch how points and perks add up. Guests can get bonus slot play, free gifts, entries into giveaways, invitations to events, and everyone's favorite—free meals at restaurants!

And when it is time to take a break from the action, there are plenty of ways to do so. Casino restaurants serve up all the best, from morning meals and afternoon bites to evening eats and late-night snacks. Dining choices include cafes with all-American and Southern fare, Italian and Asian eateries, award-winning steak and seafood restaurants, and buffets with a bit of everything. Coastal casinos really do have something for every appetite.

Amenities include relaxing spas and salons, inviting swimming pools, outstanding golf, great shopping, and more. Relax while getting pampered with a hot stone or Swedish massage, a pedicure, a facial, or one of any number of treatments in the full-service spas. Or, take a dip in the pool before soaking in the Southern sun under a cabana with a drink from the outdoor bar. After playing 21 in the casino, why not play 18 at a casino golf course? Perfectly manicured greens and fabulous fairways await golfers at courses continually ranked among the best by the pros.

And there is no lack of shopping at Coastal casinos with stores offering clothing, local items, and seasonal goods.

Pro tip: Casino gift shops have more than just decks of cards, keychains, and T-shirts. They offer a selection of charming items, just right for any gift-giving occasion. Shop the casino stores during any holiday to find just the right present for that someone special.

While the days are filled with the sounds of winning, the nights are filled with music and laughter as entertainers take the stage. Local and regional bands can be enjoyed on weekends, and showrooms host top-rated comedians and singers.

So, why not stay a few days? The lap of luxury awaits as visitors find their perfect escape at one of the Coastal casinos: Beau Rivage Resort & Casino, Boomtown Casino, Golden Nugget Hotel & Casino, Hard Rock Hotel & Casino, Harrah's Gulf Coast, IP Casino Resort Spa, Palace Casino Resort, Treasure Bay Casino and Hotel in Biloxi; Scarlet Pearl Casino Resort in D'Iberville; Island View and Smoke-Free Beach View Casino Resorts in Gulfport; Hollywood Casino Gulf Coast and Silver Slipper Casino Hotel in Bay St. Louis.

CARTER GREEN Steakhouse

Story by John N. Felsher

Diners can enjoy fine meals all along the Mississippi Gulf Coast, but the staff of Carter Green Steakhouse pride themselves on standing out even among the very best restaurants.

"Probably three reasons set us apart from our competition," explained Ed Layton, Island View Casino Vice President of Non-Gaming Operations. "One, our portions are somewhat oversized, so customers get a lot of value for the money they spend. Second, for people who enjoy wine, we have a full selection worth well more than $100,000. Third, we have such a beautiful ambiance. The restaurant is very nicely furnished and well decorated. People can watch the sunset from our casino and see the Gulf. It's a nice view."

Located in the Island View Casino complex at 3300 W. Beach Boulevard in Gulfport, Carter Green Steakhouse offers an excellent selection of prime steaks. The most popular item, tender filet mignon, comes in two sizes with all the extras. They also offer a fine selection of Gulf-to-table seafood.

"The Gulf Coast has some of the finest shrimp and other seafood in the world," Layton proclaimed. "We feature a daily catch-of-the-day, guided by the seasons and the Gulf's freshest offerings. We're especially proud of our redfish.. We also offer Gulf Coast shrimp prepared in various ways."

Owned by people with strong roots anchored on the Coast, the restaurant tries to buy as much locally as possible. Most of their seafood comes from the Gulf Coast. They also buy other items from around southern Mississippi.

"We're fortunate to have two owners, both of whom are originally from this area," Layton said. "Not only do people sell to us, but also many of them spend their leisure time with us. We're their customers, and they're our customers too. We pride ourselves on that."

The restaurant opened about 16 years ago. Many staff members worked there for years. They get to know their repeat customers. The customers get a familial feeling, knowing exactly what they will get for their money.

DISCOVER THE "golf" Coast

Story by Tommy Snell

Can you keep a secret? Neither can Coastal Mississippi, better known as the "Golf Coast" to millions of golfers who have birdied in the sunshine and par-fected course-record friendships on the Gulf's tee boxes. USA Today 10Best named Coastal Mississippi the #4 Best Golf Destination (2025) and described the Mississippi Gulf Coast as "a premier golf destination with nearly 20 top-tier courses that are open year-round."

As impressive as that award might be, the golf courses prove to be even more remarkable. Nicklaus, Fazio, and Palmer are among the many world-renown architects to work their magic on the "longest man-made beach in the world." Grand Bear, Fallen Oak, and The Bridges respectively are the artistry that only this triumvirate of designers could have imagined.

Jerry Pate and Davis Love might be major champions, but their foremost accomplishments on the Coast are The Preserve and Shell Landing, two highly regarded and perfectly manicured courses that welcome golfers of all skill levels. Mark McCumber's Windance Country Club hosted the Hogan Tour shortly after completion, giving Tom Lehman and Jeff Maggert a jump-start to their professional careers.

Coastal Mississippi has showcased golf's greatest players for 30 years. The Ben Hogan Tour became the Nike Tour and moved to Hickory Hills Country Club in Gautier. The Nike Tour became the Buy.com Tour and teed off at The Oaks in Pass Christian. Enter PGA Tour Champions at Fallen Oak Grand Bear.

Home-grown golf is alive and well on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Pascagoula Country Club, Jackson County's Whispering Pines Golf Course, Gulf Hills in Ocean Springs, Bayou Vista in Gulfport, and Pass Christian Isles welcome local golfers and visitors looking for a "down home" tee time. Located at Keesler Air Force Base, Bay Breeze embraces "civilian play with advanced reservations and proper identification only."

> Fallen Oak | Saucier

Biloxi's own golf professional Frank Stiedel designed Sunkist Country Club in 1953, and the semi-private club has become a favorite of visitors and residents. Local golf architect Earl Stone designed both the Pine Course and Cardinal Course at The Club at Diamondhead, the only 36-hole facility on the Coast.

In the '80s, March on the Coast welcomed golfers from sunup to sundown. After Easter each year, snowbirds would exit the doglegs of Mississippi and head home. No more! Golfers visit year-round. Golf package pioneer Mark Mumley remembers the days when golf wasn't organized. "Motel owners would send golfers to the course with a business card with "Good for One Round of Golf" stamped on the back," recalls Mumley.

Coastal Mississippi boasts that it has "the perfect course" for every golfer and for every budget. "Legendary designers" and local golf architects have created a world class golf destination on the Gulf that challenges golf pros and welcomes recreational golfers of all skill levels.

Whether golfers visit while on a buddy trip, a couple's getaway, or a group outing, linksters can book a tee time at any of the public or semi-private courses. Premier golf lives on an adjacent fairway with inexpensive golf. With more flights into Biloxi/Gulfport International Airport, a wide range of accommodations, and renowned restaurants where golfers can celebrate their best shots, Coastal Mississippi makes it easy to play—and gives you countless reasons to stay!

THE MISSISSIPPI STATE wildflower

Everyone knows that the Mississippi state flower is the Magnolia, but did you know that we have a state wildflower as well? If you are interested in planting Mississippi's state wildflower, Coreopsis, this coming spring, then this article is for you. To liven up winter time, let's talk about this gorgeous plant also known tickseed.

While coreopsis has been recognized as a valuable plant for gardens and landscapes for centuries, its selection as the Mississippi state wildflower was not designated until 1991.

Mississippi recognizes that Coreopsis has had a widespread presence across our state; therefore, the state chose to include all 35 species as the state wildflower.

Coreopsis plants are very versatile as they come in a wide range of colors and patterns including pinks and yellows. The perennial plants are very popular with low maintenance. They are adaptable to hot, Mississippi summers. If it's too hot, they may need some afternoon shade. But, do make sure they get 6 hours of direct sunlight each day. Also, Coreopsis is a great companion plant for ornamental grasses and other tough annuals and perennials.

Perennial coreopsis plants can be planted anytime from spring through early fall. Annual varieties should be seeded directly in the ground after the last spring frost. If you wish to start earlier, sow indoors 6 to 8 weeks before the last frost.

Annual varieties will start blooming in early summer and repeat bloom periodically through the fall, while perennial varieties will begin blooming the second year after planting from seed.

> Limerock Ruby

> Veronica

Plant coreopsis in well-drained soil. After they are in an established garden, coreopsis plants prefer to be left a little on the dry side.

Coreopsis attracts butterflies, beneficial insects, and birds. Hummingbirds are definitely attracted to these bright-colored wildflowers. Hummingbirds are also attracted to Coreopsis flowers because Coreopsis flowers are rich in nectar, making them an attractive food source. The blossoms can last a while. As the season progresses, leave a few flowers on the plants so birds can eat the seeds. Meticulous deadheading can help the plant to re-bloom.

Even though the Coreopsis can tolerate drought conditions, it likes temperatures ranging from 50 degrees nighttime to 80 degrees daytime. Coreopsis is a highly adaptable group of plants that are super easy to use in nearly all garden settings:

Yarrow is a type that thrives without much attention—it gives gardens a natural look. This is a really great groundcover, too. If blooms are left to dry, the flowers will provide pretty winter clusters.

Creme Brulee is a creamy-colored coreopsis with a height of 18 inches tall and 24 inches wide. It thrives in Zones 5-9 and produces larger flowers along its stems, giving the plant a fuller appearance.

Pink Coreopsis has pink flowers and prefers more moisture than other varieties. Suited for Zones 3-8, try to divide the spreading clusters of plants yearly to keep them growing.

Moonbeam makes a beautiful perennial border. It creates a long season of pale-yellow daisies. It is a thread leaf variety and does well in Zones 4-9.

Veronica is a type of Coreopsis that can catch the eye with their blue or purplish flowers. A few can even be rosy pink or white. They like well-drained soil and full sun. Try to extend bloom time with regular deadheading as these flowers are worth it.

Limerock Ruby is a type that grows deep pink daisies on light-colored foliage. It is known as an annual but in Zones 7-9, it is a hardy perennial. The greenery resembles that of the thread leaf Coreopsis.

> Limerock Dream

Limerock Dream produces a two-tone pink flower. It is usually grown as an annual but is hardy in Zones 6-9. It has feathery leaves that add to the beauty of the flowers. This variety requires well-drained soil over winter time.

Zagreb is a reliable variety that can grow 18 inches tall and bears brilliant gold daisy-like flowers on a fern type of foliage.

Wildflower Trails of Mississippi is a project of Keep Mississippi Beautiful. Mississippi is home to many beautiful native wildflowers, but these days, they can be tough to find. However, the Wildflower Trails of Mississippi Project is working to bring them back. They can be contacted at 601.853.4210 this spring for more information about how you can get wildflower seeds for a project. Visit them at www.mswildflowers.org.

Gaye Winter, Ph.D., teaches English at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College and is currently serving as President of the Biloxi Garden Club. For more information, email Gaye at gaye.winter@mgccc.edu.

WHERE BEAUTY & growth meet

RAISED ON THE FAIRWAYS | Q&A WITH AVERY WEED

CONNECTION TO THE COAST

Q | You grew up playing golf in Coastal Mississippi. What does it mean to you to still call these courses home?

A | It means the world! I always look forward to coming home over the summer and winter breaks to play golf on the Coast for a couple of months. The weather is fantastic, and the variety makes it so enjoyable.

Q | When did you first fall in love with the game, and where on the Coast did that start?

A | I fell in love with the game around 9 years old. This is when I started competitive golf, and I loved every second of it. This started right around the time my family and I moved down to the Coast, where I became a member at Shell Landing.

Q | How did growing up in Ocean Springs shape you as a golfer and as a person?

A | Growing up in Ocean Springs, there were always a lot of kids around to play golf with. At Shell Landing, there have always been lots of adults as well who would want to ask me about my game. This helped me learn how to communicate well and be very sociable. Growing up on the Coast shaped my golf game for different conditions and helped me become a better person.

THE COURSES

Q | What makes golfing in Coastal Mississippi unique, from the conditions to the distinct personalities of courses like The Oaks, The Bridges, Windance, Shell Landing, and Fallen Oak, and how do these courses challenge and improve your game?

A | One thing about Coastal Mississippi is that there is pretty much always a constant breeze, which is different from most places I've played. Growing up playing many of the different courses along the Coast, I learned something unique from each one. They all test you in different ways—whether it's pine-lined fairways, marsh and bayou carries, thick rough, or greens with a lot of slope. Some require accurate drives, some demand forced carries over water or marsh, and others challenge you with fast, tricky greens.

Playing in the wind on the Coast has definitely sharpened my game over the years. Learning to control ball trajectory and calculate how the wind will influence each shot has become second nature. Each course presents its own personality and its own challenge, and having to adapt to those differences is what has made me a more well-rounded golfer.

YEAR-ROUND PLAY

Q | What has playing almost year-round, in weather that keeps you on the course, meant for your growth as a golfer?

> Avery Weed is a standout junior on the Mississippi State women's golf team and one of the nation's top collegiate golfers. Originally from Ocean Springs, Mississippi, Avery brings her Gulf Coast roots, competitive spirit, and love for the game to every tournament she plays.

A | Year-round play is crucial to developing as a junior golfer. It's hard to take weeks or even months off and expect your skills to stay sharp, because so much time away usually means you are spending the next stretch trying to catch back up to where you were. Being able to stay on the course consistently is a huge advantage.

Honestly, it is priceless. Getting to play all year long gives you more reps, more confidence, and many more opportunities to improve. Playing in tough conditions like wind, rain, and chilly weather really prepares you for competition. You learn to adjust, stay mentally tough, and handle whatever comes your way. That year-round exposure makes a big difference in your development.

COASTAL COMMUNITY & CULTURE

Q | How have mentors, friends, and fellow golfers in the Coastal Mississippi golf community supported your journey, and how does that encouraging mindset influence what happens on the course?

A | The entire golf community on the Coast has supported me to the fullest throughout my journey. It constantly reminds me how many people are rooting for my success, and that makes me want to play for more than just myself.

The two coaches I had on the Coast played a huge role in the development of my game. Friends and fellow golfers were always pushing me competitively, and that helped me build the mentality I needed for college golf.

The community mindset also helps me remember that golf is just a game at the end of the day. The reason I enjoy it so much is because I get to share it with the people I love and care about.

GROWING CHAMPIONS

Q | Why do you think Coastal Mississippi produces so many strong golfers, and how do the courses here shape a player's mental and physical development?

A | I think champions come from the Coast because of the strong community, the variety of courses, and the fantastic weather. Being in the South also adds a strong competitive element, and that really helps shape a tough mentality.

Physically, the courses here teach players how to hit all kinds of shots, which makes you more versatile. Mentally, the difficulty of the courses and the competitive environment help players develop a strong mind and that no-give-up attitude.

Q | What lesson has golf on the Coast taught you that you still carry with you today?

A | Golf on the Coast has taught me that helping others is the best way of life. I have always had so much support on the Coast, and it has encouraged me to help younger golfers over the years.

MOMENTS THAT STAY

Q | For someone visiting Coastal Mississippi for the first time, whether they're new to the game or chasing their best round, what can they expect to experience here, and what moments on the course make you appreciate how special this place is?

A | I would say you are in for a treat! No matter which course you choose, the scenery will be fantastic, the people will be friendly, and the course itself will be high quality.

You can expect to find a very strong community that encourages everyone, no matter where they are in their golf journey, and courses that genuinely help you get better.

A moment that always makes me appreciate how special the Coast is seeing a heron fly over the water with the sun shining down. It is little scenes like that that remind you how beautiful this place really is.

Q | When people ask what makes Coastal Mississippi special to you, what do you tell them?

A | I tell them about the strong community first and foremost. Truly, I have never experienced a community like the Coast, especially within the golf world. Everyone is rooting for you and willing to do whatever it takes to help you along the way. Coastal Mississippi is where beauty and growth meet, because the people, the courses, and the surroundings all come together to push you, support you, and remind you how special this place really is.

A NURSERY in the sand

SHARING THE SHORE WITH THE LEAST TERN

If you've ever walked any of Coastal Mississippi's beaches and thought, How does something so small survive out here?—Congratulations. You've already met the least tern, even if you didn't know it.

Clocking in at just over nine inches long and weighing about as much as an LED lightbulb (yes, really), the least tern is the smallest species of tern in North America. But don't let the size fool you. These birds travel thousands of miles from Central and South America every spring, arriving on the Gulf Coast by late March with one goal in mind—raising the next generation—right there in the sand.

No nest. No cushion. No margin for error.

Least Terns are beach-nesting birds, which means they lay their eggs directly on the sand in shallow depressions called scrapes. The eggs are tiny. The chicks are even tinier. And their camouflage? Downright impressive—perfectly designed to fool predators... and unfortunately, people too! That's the tricky part.

Coastal Mississippi hosts the largest population of Least Terns, making the Coast beaches one of the most important breeding grounds in the country. Breeding season runs from April through August, and during that time, every step, every unleashed dog, every stray fishing line matters more than most people realize.

When least terns feel threatened, they don't fight—they flee.

And when adults leave the nest, even briefly, eggs and chicks are left exposed to heat, predators, and danger. The threat doesn't have to be intentional. It just has to be close.

Here's the hopeful part: this is one of those rare conservation stories where small human changes can make a big difference.

Least Terns are what scientists call colonial nesters, meaning they nest in groups rather than alone. They usually lay one to three eggs, which are incubated for about 20 to 25 days.

During that time, adult birds perform some truly impressive feats—like wetting their belly feathers in the Gulf and returning to the nest to cool their eggs in the summer heat. It's parenting meets problem-solving, beach edition. But their numbers are declining.

The good news? Active stewardship, education, and advocacy are already helping and there's plenty of room for more people to join in.

Protecting least terns doesn't require grand gestures. It starts with space. Giving birds room to nest and behave naturally is one of the most powerful tools we have along with respecting posted nesting areas. If birds react to your presence, you're too close.

Leash dogs and follow local ordinances. Dispose of trash and fishing line properly—wildlife entanglement is real and preventable. Skip feeding wildlife, even if it feels kind. Feeding other birds attracts predators like gulls and crows, which are known to prey on least tern eggs and chicks. And if possible, avoid fireworks and noisy activities near nesting colonies during breeding season.

Then there's the extra-credit option—get involved. Volunteers play a vital role in protecting these birds, helping monitor nesting areas and educate beachgoers. And advocacy matters more than people think. Talking about least terns—at cookouts, on social media, with visiting friends—helps normalize shared responsibility for Mississippi beaches.

Because here's the truth—Coastal Mississippi isn't just a vacation backdrop. It's a nursery. Every summer, these tiny travelers choose Coast sand to start the next chapter of their journey. The least tern doesn't need much—just a little room, a little awareness, and a community willing to notice the smallest bird doing one of the biggest jobs on the beach.

Contact mscoastalbirds@audubon.org if you'd like to help protect least terns or learn more about volunteering.

Sometimes conservation doesn't roar. Sometimes it peeps quietly from the sand and waits for people to pay attention.

SIP, SOCIALIZE & RECONNECT

When the sun dips below the horizon, Coastal Mississippi lights up. From breezy beach bars to glitzy casinos, the Coast's nightlife scene is as vibrant as its sunsets. As day turns to night, the energy shifts into high gear with live music, dancing, and unforgettable events that keep the good times rolling.

Whether you're swaying to the sounds of a local band at a dockside dive, dancing the night away at a downtown hot spot, or sipping cocktails by a sparkling poolside bar, there's no shortage of places to let loose. Beau Rivage Resort & Casino turns up the volume with live music seven nights a week, while venues across the region regularly host top local, regional, and national acts.

Hungry after hours? You're in luck—many nightlife spots serve up delicious late-night bites to pair with your drink of choice, from classic cocktails and craft brews to frozen daiquiris and fine wine.

So go ahead and let the Coastal breeze guide you. Embrace the rhythm, the flavor, and the fun. In Coastal Mississippi, the nights are lively, the music never stops, and every evening is an invitation to celebrate.

BRIGHT LIGHTS & big thrills

When the sun dips below the horizon on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, a new world comes to life with bright lights, great food, and thrills for all ages. With many live music venues, nightclubs, casinos, and arcades, your biggest challenge will be choosing the perfect spot to enhance your Coastal Mississippi vacation. To help you decide, we're highlighting a few of our favorites.

Of course, we have to start with our world-class gaming industry. With twelve beautiful casino resorts, these destinations offer a premier gaming experience that includes exciting table games, championship poker, and slots alongside elegant bars and restaurants, many with beautiful views of the Gulf and surrounding cities. Several offer concerts with headline entertainers and stage shows, so check out Coastal Mississippi's online events calendar.

One unique experience that everyone will love is the MGM Golf at Beau Rivage Resort & Casino. This high-tech experience features a variety of games and sports to play on a massive screen inside your bay. Enjoy this immersive experience in a comfy lounge environment offering fantastic food and drinks.

If you love live music with a side of barbecue, there is no better destination than Ground Zero Blues Club. Recently named one of Mississippi's "Must-See Music Venues," Ground Zero is co-owned by Academy Award-winning actor Morgan Freeman and located in the heart of Downtown Biloxi. This venue checks all the boxes for live blues music, a great atmosphere, food, and specialty drinks!

Don't stop there! Biloxi has a variety of nighttime venues from Chill Ultra Lounge at IP Casino Resort Spa to the laid back vibe at The Project Lounge. LIVE #REMIX at Hard Rock Hotel & Casino is your place when you're ready to break out your best dance moves. You'll find the best local DJs spinning the hottest Top 40s with a little EDM, hip-hop, country, and pop.

> The Shed BBQ & Blues Joint

> 100 Men Hall

> Lost Springs Brewing Co.

If a more relaxed adventure is your pleasure, look no further than Biloxi's Premiere Lux Cinema & Pizza Pub. This luxury cinema on Highway 90 at Edgewater Mall has a full bar and Pizza Pub for you to enjoy from the comfort of your red leather-powered reclining chair while enjoying the latest cinematic releases.

Don't miss the fantastic beauty of a few of our favorite small towns, Ocean Springs and Bay St. Louis. Recently named the #1 and #2 small towns in America by USA Today, they offer their own brand of nightlife and unique charm.

Known as the City of Discovery, Ocean Springs is the perfect place to relax and enjoy a craft beer flight at Lost Springs Brewing Co. or The Cypress Taphouse. A quaint Main Street community nestled amongst centuries-old live oaks, Downtown Ocean Springs comes to life after dark, with live music spilling from almost every doorway.

One of the premiere spots in Downtown Bay St. Louis is 100 Men Hall. Having just marked its centennial year, 100 Men Hall is a rare architectural monument to African American life and music on the Coast having hosted legendary musicians, such as Ray Charles, James Brown, Etta James, Deacon John, James Booker, and Ernie K. Doe.

Whatever you're looking for, from outdoor acoustics to the blues, "The Bay" is a whole vibe. But wherever you go, adventure seekers will always strike the right note for fun and lasting memories when the sun sets on the Coast!

RETRO revival

COASTAL MISSISSIPPI AFTER DARK

Story by Cherie Ward

Step into the glittering groove of Coastal Mississippi's after-dark scene, where supper clubs croon, cocktails shimmer, and the night always ends with a story to tell.

It's winter on the Coast, but the chill stops at the shoreline. Inside Hen House, the clink of coupe glasses and a mellow groove set the night in motion. From there, the evening unfolds like a vintage film reel with dinner beneath the temptress glow of Siren Social Club, live jazz and late-night martinis at Sapphire Supper Club, and a dreamy overnight escape at Hotel Mojo. Whether you're chasing a classic date night or building your own retro weekend itinerary, Coastal Mississippi's nightlife is serving timeless charm with a twist.

COCKTAILS & CONVERSATION

Hen House, Bay St. Louis

First stop, Hen House, where the lights are low, the drinks—like the Creme Brulee Espresso Martini—are high on creativity, and everyone looks like they stepped out of an old movie. There's a hum in the air—a mix of laughter, music, and that first sip of something smooth. Order a Flamingo Spritz, all gin and glam, and settle in like the main character of your own retro film. Pair it with a few small plates, and you have that effortless swanky vibe that makes you want to stay for "just one more."

> Sapphire Supper Club, Biloxi | Arielle Victoria

DINNER WITH A VIEW

Siren Social Club, Gulfport

Next up, point your compass toward Siren Social Club. This Coastal beauty glows like a lighthouse after dark, equal parts elegance and energy. Inside, the light catches on glassware and smiles, while the kitchen turns Gulf seafood into edible art. Or maybe it's the Beef Wellington with mushroom duxelle, all golden pastry and center-stage glamour—the kind of dish that deserves its own encore. Or the oysters that taste like the ocean just whispered your name, revealing Siren is the kind of place that makes you slow down, lean in, and toast to the year ahead.

MUSIC, MOOD & MIDNIGHT

Sapphire Supper Club, Biloxi

When dinner fades into night, Sapphire Supper Club comes alive—that perfect moment when the past leans in close, the music swells, and the present can't help but fall under its spell. And you suddenly feel like you've time-traveled to a world where style is everything. Inside this retro-inspired venue, live jazz floats through the room like perfume, and every table feels like the best seat in the house. Velvet booths, crystal glassware, and a bandstand bathed in blue light set the rhythm for an unforgettable finale. Order a martini, lean back, and let the music do what it's done for decades—make the world slow down. At Sapphire, the glamour of yesteryear isn't just décor—it's the heartbeat.

SOPHISTICATED STAY

Hotel Mojo, Ocean Springs

End the night in elegance at Hotel Mojo, a boutique retreat perched above the heart of Downtown Ocean Springs. After a night of music and martinis, slip upstairs for one last cocktail as the Mirror Bar hums with candlelit piano melodies and low laughter that lingers long past midnight. When the curtain finally falls, retreat to your room—where Coastal calm meets artistic energy—and let the rhythm of the evening fade into sweet dreams.

By morning, the tempo slows and the day begins with lunch at Field's Italian right downstairs, where handmade pasta and a glass of something bright set the tone for an easy afternoon. From there, it's just a short stroll through Downtown Ocean Springs—a mix of galleries, boutiques, and breezy charm—the perfect encore to a weekend well played.

CHOOSE YOUR OWN COASTAL ADVENTURE

If you're in the mood to mix it up, Coastal Mississippi delivers! Watch the sunset from Hancock Rooftop Bar, cozy up in the nostalgic charm of Gulf Hills Hotel + Resort, or lean into the artsy vibes at Beatnik or Driftwood Motel—both colorful, quirky, and unapologetically retro. From rooftop to roadside, every stop feels like a postcard—just waiting for you to step in and write the next scene.

PLAN YOUR PERFECT WEEKEND

Whether you build one perfect sip, sparkle, and sway evening or stretch it into a long weekend of laughter and late-night charm, we make it easy to plan your own retro escape. Visit coastalmississippi.com to craft your getaway and savor the charm of the Coast in classic style.

ALL YOUR SHOPPING NEEDS

Coastal Mississippi is a wonderland for shoppers wanting to while away a few hours browsing, antiquing, or doing some serious shopping.

There are souvenir shops where visitors can find kitschy things for the folks back home. Museums and art gallery shops are perfect for memorable keepsakes, while hobby and craft shops offer a personal touch. For original artwork, art galleries have the works of local and regional artists available for purchase.

Locally owned dress, shoe, jewelry, and specialty shops abound along with major department stores. There's also a factory outlet center, Gulfport Premium Outlets, where the latest fashions as well as bargains reign. Casino-goers can even shop while they play, thanks to the various gift shops located within the casinos, offering everything from branded merchandise to unique souvenirs.

Shop in quaint centers such as Sazerac Square and Rue Magnolia Arts District with their eclectic mixes. Or, enjoy strolling tree-lined downtown areas such as Downtown Ocean Springs and Old Town Bay St. Louis. National brands are available at inviting centers and malls such as The Promenade, Crossroads Mall, and Edgewater Mall.

MEMORABLE FINDS on the Coastline

Story by Kelsey Sunderman-Foster

We get it—even on vacation, sometimes you need to pick up a few essentials. But in Coastal Mississippi, shopping turns into something far more memorable. Shopping local on the Coast is about soaking up the charm of our Coastal communities, connecting with friendly shop owners, and uncovering treasures you won't find anywhere else.

All across the Coast, you'll find beloved mom-and-pop shops that have been part of the community for generations. These small-town stores offer more than just great finds—a warm welcome, a personal touch, and often, a slice of local history.

Wander through Downtown Bay St. Louis, where art galleries, antique shops, and whimsical boutiques line the streets. As you stroll along Main Street, you'll find handcrafted jewelry, vintage décor, and unexpected gems—each with a story to tell and a smiling local to tell it!

A short drive away, Ocean Springs invites you to slow down and explore its walkable downtown packed with artisan goods, cozy cafés, and stylish Southern-chic boutiques. Whether you're looking for handmade candles, locally crafted artwork, or your new favorite outfit, this vibrant town always delivers.

If you're after convenience, you'll find plenty of modern shopping centers that make life easy. Head to The Promenade Parkway in D'Iberville, a shopper's paradise offering everything from Target and Walmart to Old Navy, Coral Boutique, and Kohl's. Grab a quick bite at one of the many fast-casual spots or sit down to enjoy your meal, relaxing after a day of retail therapy.

In Gulfport, explore Gulfport Premium Outlets for unbeatable deals from your favorite designer brands, including Kate

> The Shops at Century Hall | Coastal Mississippi

Spade, Nike, Michael Kors, Coach, and more! Down the road, The Crossroads Center offers essentials, unique clothing finds, and go-to favorites like Barnes & Noble, Cinemark, Cracker Barrel, and PetSmart.

Prefer an indoor mall experience? Edgewater Mall in Biloxi is the Coast's largest enclosed mall and has it all—from Dillard's and JCPenney to Victoria's Secret and Belk. Don't miss the in-house movie theater with reclining seats and on-site dining that turns your movie night into a full-service experience.

So, whether you're searching for the perfect souvenir, a standout piece for your wardrobe, or a little slice of Coastal Mississippi to take home, make time to explore the Coast. Every purchase comes with a smile, a story, and a lasting connection.

SHOPPING SPOTLIGHTS

HANCOCK COUNTY

THE SHOPS AT CENTURY HALL, BAY ST. LOUIS

Head on over to Bay St. Louis and walk through the doors of Century Hall, home to a treasure trove of unique finds. With three floors of stores to wow and delight, there's something for everyone and every style.

From art galleries like Tami Curtis Gallery and Gallery 313 and gift shops like Bay Life and In a Pinch Gifts, The Shops at Century hall promise one-of-a-kind finds around every corner. And, perhaps best of all, you're likely to be greeted by the welcoming faces of the shop owners themselves while you're there!

HARRISON COUNTY

FLOURISH BOUTIQUE, GULFPORT

For Brandy Bryan and Dawn Mears, style has always been about more than what's on the rack. It's about how women feel when they walk out the door—confident, comfortable, and fully themselves. That philosophy is stitched into every corner of Flourish Boutique, the women's clothing and gift shop the duo opened last June in Gulfport.

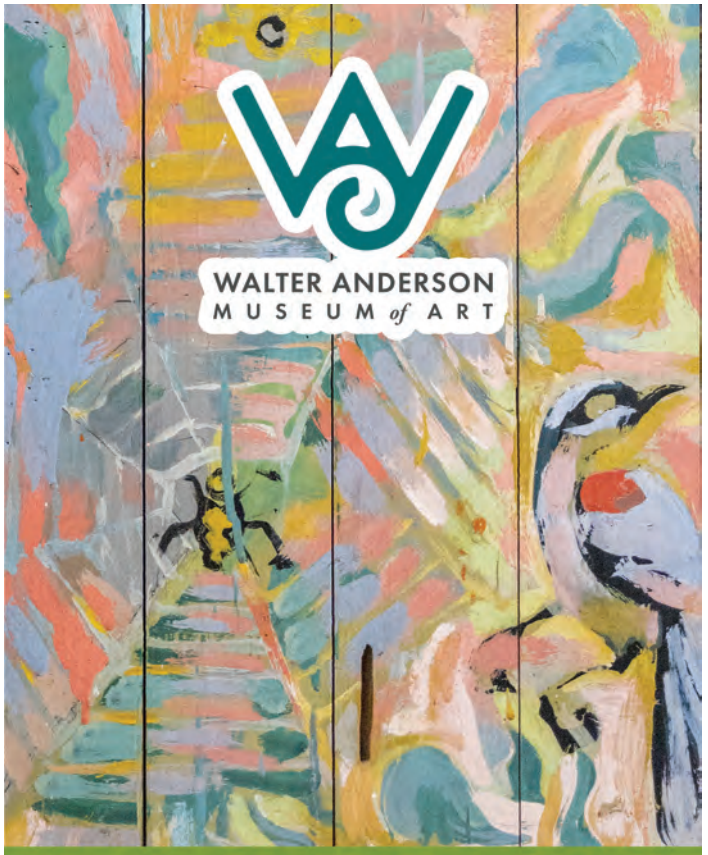

The shop also hosts seasonal events and after-hours art classes, further reinforcing its role as a gathering place. As the inaugural anniversary approaches, Bryan says plans are still forming—but a flourishing celebration is definitely guaranteed.

JACKSON COUNTY

COASTAL MAGPIE, OCEAN SPRINGS

Nestled under the majestic oaks of Downtown Ocean Springs, Coastal Magpie is not your mama's antique shop. Sure, there are antiques and handcrafted works of art, but there's something extra special about this place—and it's not just the smell of their famous Kudzu candles and wax melts.

Husband and wife Jarrett Potter and JoAnn Wheeler are the dynamic duo behind this fun and eclectic shop. They devote much of their time to finding the coolest antiques from across the country to bring back for their patrons, as well as seeking out local artists to feature.

HIDDEN stays

Story by Kelsey Sunderman-Foster

In Coastal Mississippi, the best places to stay aren't always the tallest towers or the flashiest resorts. Sometimes they're tucked behind oak-canopied streets, hidden along quiet harbors, or perched steps away from art-filled courtyards. Throughout the three Coastal counties, these under-the-radar accommodations offer more than just a place to sleep—they offer stories, character, and a true sense of place.

Whether you're craving a creative escape, a romantic hideaway, or a peaceful waterfront retreat, these hidden stays invite you to experience the Coast like a local (and maybe stay a little bit longer).

THE NEST

OCEAN SPRINGS

Perched right on the campus of the Walter Anderson Museum of Art, The Nest is a truly unique stay where the art world becomes your backyard. This charming Airbnb-style suite immerses you in Downtown Ocean Springs steps from beaches, restaurants, and galleries, and even includes admission to the museum with your stay. Complimentary art supplies are ready if inspiration strikes after a day of exploring local creativity.

The Beatnik | Coastal Mississippi & RPF Media

FRONT BEACH COTTAGES

OCEAN SPRINGS

Hidden on a quiet street just a short stroll from downtown and the Gulf, Front Beach Cottages offer cozy, colorful cottages ideal for couples or small groups. Guests often enjoy complimentary bicycles and kayaks to explore the shoreline or nearby bayous at their own pace.

THE GRAND MAGNOLIA SUITES

PASCAGOULA

In historic Pascagoula, The Grand Magnolia Suites feels more like an elegant home than a hotel. Each suite blends period charm with modern comforts, and its location on sprawling grounds invites leisurely wanderings before you explore Pascagoula, the state's designated American World War II Heritage City.

BAY TOWN INN

BAY ST. LOUIS

On the western edge of the Coast, Bay Town Inn is a boutique seaside hideaway nestled beneath live oaks and within walking distance of beachside bars, restaurants, and galleries. With a relaxed vibe and ocean views, it's perfect for a quiet getaway or a romantic retreat.

CARROLL HOUSE COTTAGES

BAY ST. LOUIS

Also in Bay St. Louis, these quaint cottages offer a colorful, laid-back stay just steps from the historic harbor. Their porch-lined charm and short walk to Main Street's artisan shops make them feel like a home base for local exploration.

HOTEL WHISKEY

PASS CHRISTIAN

In the serene town of Pass Christian along Highway 90, Hotel Whiskey combines stylish design with easy Gulf access. Its cozy rooms and thoughtful touches make it a beloved choice for those seeking something a bit different from big-box beachfront hotels.

THE BEATNIK

OCEAN SPRINGS

For a stay with personality, The Beatnik in Downtown Ocean Springs offers four floating, cabin-style rooms inspired by beatnik culture and the adventure seekers of the '50s and '60s. With lush gardens, a plunge pool, outdoor showers, and a fire pit, it's a playful, artsy hideaway minutes from shops and eateries.

HIDDEN COTTAGES & VACATION RENTALS

Beyond boutique hotels, the Mississippi Gulf Coast has no shortage of tucked-away vacation homes. Fom historic beach cottages in Pass Christian to cozy waterfront cottages in Biloxi and Gulfport, these rental options feel like your own special retreat with sand just steps away.

When you choose one of Coastal Mississippi's bountiful hidden stays, you're not just booking a room—you're unlocking a slice of Southern paradise that feels personal and unmistakably unforgettable.
